

ISAG . 2019

37th International Society for Animal Genetics Conference

July 7 - 12, 2019 - Lleida, Spain

The University of Lleida has the pleasure to announce that the next ISAG Conference will be held in Lleida, Catalonia, Spain.

Lleida is easily reached with a high-speed train from the two major international airports in Barcelona and Madrid.

The University of Lleida is one of the oldest universities in Spain. Located at the heart of a major livestock, fruit and wine production region, our University has a leading role in the research areas of agrifood and food technology, including animal and plant genetics.

The 2019 ISAG conference will be an excellent opportunity to bring together outstanding scientists, policy makers, professionals and students from interdisciplinary animal genetics fields to share the latest developments, meet old friends and form new partnerships. The conference will take place in La Llotja Convention Center, which is located within walking distance from the city centre.

We are looking forward to meeting you in Lleida in 2019!

Joan Estany and Romi Pena,
on behalf of the Local Organising Committee – ISAG 2019

Visit us at www.isag.us/2019 for updated information on the event